A MAN'S A MAN FOR A' THAT.

A NEW VERSION.

I.

"A man's a man," says Robert Burns,
"For a' that and a' that;"
But though the song be clear and strong,
It lacks a note for a' that.
The lout who'd shirk his daily work,
Yet claim his wage and a' that,
Or beg, when he might earn his bread,
Is NOT a man for a' that.

II.

If all who dine on homely fare
Were true and brave and a' that,
And none whose garb is "hodden grey,"
Was fool and knave and a' that,
The vice and crime that shame our time
Would fade and fall and a' that,
And ploughmen be as good as kings,
And churls as earl's for a' that.

III.

You see yon brawny, blustering sot,
Who swaggers, swears, and a' that,
And thinks, because his strong right arm
Might fell an ox and a' that,
That he's as noble, man for man,
As duke or lord, and a' that:
He's but a brute, beyond dispute,
And NOT a man for a' that.

IV.

A man may own a large estate,
Have palace, park, and a' that,
And not for birth, but honest worth,
Be thrice a man for a' that;
And Donald herding on the muir,
Who beats his wife, and a' that,
Be nothing but a rascal boor,
Nor half a man for a' that.

V.

It comes to this, dear Robert Burns—
"The truth is old, and a' that,
"The rank is but the guinea's stamp,
The man's the gold for a' that."
And though you'd put the minted mark
On copper, brass, and a' that—
The lie is gross, the cheat is plain,
And will not pass for a' that.

VI.

For a' that, and a' that,
'Tis soul and heart and a' that,
That makes the king a gentleman,
And not his crown and a' that.
And man with man, if rich or poor,
The best is he, for a' that,
Who stands erect, in self-respect,
And acts the man for a' that.

CHARLES MACKAY.

EXCELSIOR MINE AT MEADOW LAKE.—The following, clipped from the Meadow Lake Sun, we can vouch for as a truthful account of the trip described and the sights seen during said trip. We were of the party whose experience is related and the facts related we helped to experience—of each in due proportion—of the "smile" and dinner at Kelsy's rather more than our due.

Yesterday, in company with a friend, we paid a visit to the mine and mill of the Excelsior Company, which is located about three-quarters of a mile south of this place. The Excelsior is the first location made in the district, and from what we saw yesterday, we have not the least doubt but what it will prove to be one of the best. Leaving town at 9 o'clock we took the trail for the little village of Excelsior, at which place we arrived in some twenty minutes. Here we were joined by Mr. John Simons, the Superintendent of the mine, and within a few moments we were again under way. Reaching the mine we found the company had commenced the work of cutting across the ledge. The cut at the present time is about half-way across the ledge, at which point it is some twelve feet deep and shows a very superior quality of ore; in fact we saw large chunks of the ore weighing tons that had been blasted out, which showed gold all over them, also in the ledge gold is to be seen in great profusion. We do not consider it eulogizing the mine when we say it has no superiors on the continent for size and richness. There are, no doubt many small ledges showing richer ore, but as near as we were able to judge the ledge of this company is about thirty feet thick, and shows gold in all parts of it, also prospecting largely in fine gold which is visible to the naked eye. It is our opinion the ore taken from the mine will, in the aggregate pay at least $50 per ton under the stamps in free gold, besides what is contained in the sulphurets The sulphurets are, undoubtedly very rich, for in our examination yesterday, we observed large bodies of them that seemed to be half-gold and in some instances, where the ore was broken, there would be wire gold sticking up from among them an eigth of an inch in length. We call special attention to all those interested in mines to give the Excelsior Company a call and examine for themselves. We are satisfied the present showing in the mine will convince the most sceptical that this district is not a failure, but on the contrary is one of the best on the coast. One fact in connection with this mine is, the greater depth attained, the richer the ore is found to be. From the mine we proceeded to the mill, which is located some one hundred yards from the ledge. It is being pushed forward to completion by Mr. Taylor with all possible energy, there being twenty-one men employed on the work. The building is almost completed, while the frames for the battery and pans are completed and will be in place to-day. The dimensions of the mill are as follows: Main building, sixty-two by thirty-two feet; engine room, forty-two by twenty-five feet. The bed on which the mortars stand consists of a huge stick of timber thirty-three by thirty-seven inches square and twenty-eight feet in length. This timber is let into a twelve inch sill, which rests on the solid ledge and is keyed fast, also a large iron bolt passes through the long timber and sill making them as solid as though they were one piece. The motive power of the mill consists of a Burdon engine, with a cylinder of sixteen inch bore and three foot stroke. The steam for the engine to be supplied by two boilers, each being forty inches in diameter, twelve and a half feet in length, and containing twenty-six flues. These boilers are manufactured from the best quality of hammered iron charcoal, and is said to be far superior to other iron manufactured, being perfectly safe with a pressure of one hundred and eighty pounds of steam. The machinery of the mill consists of twenty stamps, weighing eight hundred and fifty pounds, five Mosheimer's double concentrators, five Eureka grinders for sulphurets, and five Knox pans. The mason work is being done in a superb manner by Mr. Simpson, who has laid up in twenty-nine days one hundred and forty-two perch of stone work. The mill is certainly the most substantial piece of work ever put up in the county, and reflects great credit on Mr. Taylor, the Superintendent, and Mr. Hook, the millwright, both of whom are first-class workmen, as is plainly to be seen by the work on this mill. After being assured by Mr. Taylor that the mill would be in operation inside of four weeks, we returned to the hotel of Mr. Kelsy, where we, by invitation of the host, first smiled and then partook of as good a dinner as we have seen in many long days. One of the things we do know is, Kelsy knows how to keep a hotel, and if there are any sceptics on this point let them give him a call and see for themselves. There are two good reasons besides good dinners and clever landlords why persons of taste should like to patronize this house. After dinner we returned home satisfied that the Excelsior mine is one of the largest and richest in Nevada county, and that soon the company will have one of the best mills in the State.

"WHAT is that?" said a Sunday School teacher, pointing to the letter O.

"Dunno," said the urchin.

"What do you say when you stub your toe?"

"D—n it," was the precocious reply.

A TALE OF AN OLD SEXTON.

A MIDNIGHT APPARITION.

O treacherous night!
Thou lend'st thy ready veil to every treason!
And teeming mischief thrives beneath thy shade.
—AARON HILL.

Mr. Colebrook was dead. He was a rich man, yet a slight acquaintance with him would have convinced even a superficial observer that he was not a happy man. He was misanthropic in his views, though he had the reputation in the streets of being a very kind hearted and benevolent man. Every day seemed to usher him into the arena of a new strife with powers of misery. Apparently he was tired of life, and impatiently waited for the hour that had now come, and which would put him beyond the trials and woes of this sublunary existence.

And yet many could remember when he was a gay and cheerful person. Before his marriage with a poor but beautiful girl some seven years before his death, he had worn a sunny smile, and his life seemed to him a pleasant dream.

Though only thirty-five when he married, people said there was too much difference between his own age and that of his wife, who was, I believe, about twenty-two. She had been poor, and forced to content herself with but few of the luxuries and gayeties of life; but now she was rich, and her indulgent husband gave her free access to his coffers. Wealth fostered pride, and Mrs. Colebrook became a leader of fashion—the gayest of the gay. Her beauty and influential position in society made her a queen, and her smile was courted by the brilliant and dissolute. The house when she was at home, was always filled with gay gallants and lordly ladies.

All the world could see this; and the next thing it saw, was, that Mr. Colebrook grew sad and melancholy; that his wife was cold to him and there was little, if any sympathy between them. Then people said the poor man had married badly, and the croakers all "knew that it would be so."

Mr. Colebrook was dead. Whatever woes had weighed him down, he was beyond their reach now. People said he had died of a broken heart, that the whirl of pleasure in his own home had been a hell to him; and that his gay wife had been the scorpion who stung him to death.

For my part, I pay but little attention to the tongue of gossip. I account all it says, whether good or bad, as mere slander. Whatever stories I had heard concerning Mrs. Colebrook—and I heard many—passed "in at one ear and out at the other."

"Mr. Mortal," said a man at my door.

"That is my name."

"Mr. Colebrook is dead, and Mrs. Colebrook wants you to come up to the house and lay him out."

"Mr. Colebrook!" I exclaimed for the intelligence was very much unexpected to me as well as the whole city, when it was announced.

I heard that he was suffering from an attack of bilious cholic; but it had not been even rumored that he was dangerously sick.

"Yes, he is dead," replied the man; "Mrs. Colebrook wishes you to make haste."

"I didn't know he was sick."

"Got very bad last night, and grew worse ever since, till twenty minutes ago when he died."

Mrs. Colebrook's house was not five minutes' walk from home, and I hastened there to perform the offices of the dead. I was shown into the room where the corpse lay, just as death had done its work. The sufferer had apparently died in the greatest agony. The bed clothes still evidenced the struggle between the tyrant and his victim.

With the assistant of the man servant who had gone to my house, I laid him out and put the room in order.

I was about to depart when the man servant called me back.

"Mrs. Colebrook would like to see you," he said, as he showed me to a parlor in front of the room in which the corpse lay.

She appeared to be in the deepest distress, and the family physician was still present, using his best efforts to reduce her to a state of calmness. He had succeeded to some extent; and she spoke to me with tolerable self-possession.

"You will make all arrangements, Mr. Mortal," said she.

"I will, madam."

"Oh, it was terrible!" groaned she.

"Be calm, Mrs. Colebrook," interposed Dr. Rowne.

"I cannot, Doctor; I feet as though I should become distracted."

"Nay, madam, control yourself," and the Doctor, who was a young and very good-looking man, took her hand and uttered some sentimental remark, which I have now forgotten.

"Will you watch with him?" she almost gasped, looking eagerly at me.

"Watch with him?" asked Dr. Rowne, in surprise.

"Yes."

"It is entirely unnecessary."

"The corpse must have watchers," she added more calmly than she had yet spoken.

"There is no need of them, but——"

"I would not have him left alone for all the world," said she, with a kind of convulsive shiver.

"No possible harm could befall him."

"But it seemed so neglectful to desert the body as soon as the spirit has fled."

"It is entirely a matter of choice," I added.

"Couldn't you watch with him, Mr. Mortal?"

"If you particularly desire it."

"I do, I could not bear to have his remains guarded by a mere servant. You will oblige me very much."

I consented to the arrangement, and promised to return by nine o'clock in the evening.

After ordering the coffin for the deceased—for at that time they were not kept on hand to such an extent as they are now—and attending to my private affairs I again repaired to the Colebrook mansion.

It was customary at the time of which I write for two persons to perform the service for which I was engaged, though watching was then going rapidly out of fashion; but, as my business was with the dead, I was perfectly at home in the chamber of death, and was even better satisfied to be alone than with company. I had brought an interesting book from home, and Mrs. Colebrook had provided a very interesting repast for me in the dining room below, so that I looked forward to a very comfortable night. Throwing myself into the large rocking-chair, which had been placed there for my use, I was soon engaged in the entertaining pages of my book. As often as the clock struck I arose and examined the corpse, moistening the face with alcohol, and wiping away the purging at the mouth.

At eleven o'clock some one entered the house and came up stairs. They were the feet of a man, and I heard him enter the parlor adjoining the room of death. Though it seemed a rather singular circumstance that a man should enter the house at that time of night, I thought nothing more of it till I heard voices, engaged in earnest conversation. In a few minutes they grew louder and more distinct, and I recognized the voice of Dr. Rowne. Perhaps Mrs. Colebrook was sick and needed his assistance. But he spoke not in the tones of his profession. The other person spoke in a whisper; but the doctor spoke in his natural voice, and seemed to be under no restraint.

The house was as still as a tomb, and though I made no effort to hear what was said, the expressions "will," "three witnesses," "thirty days," and others of a similar character, came distinctly to my ears. They aroused my curiosity. Who was this Dr. Rowne? Why was he there at that unreasonable hour?

Well, it was none of my business, and half a dozen times I determined not to concern myself about it. But it was in vain that I tried to fasten my mind upon the book again; it had lost the power to interest me. I glanced at a door which opened into the room where the speakers were. It would be mean to listen, and I would not do it. It was the month of May, and the weather was quite chilly. I had neglected to bring any extra clothing with me, and I began to feel uncomfortably cold. I rose and paced the room several minutes.

"Both wills," came to my hearing, in the unguarded tones of Dr. Rowne.

I paused and looked at the door. Apparently the other person, who I doubted not was Mrs. Colebrook speaking, but I could not hear nothing. I threw myself into the chair and began to shiver with cold again. On a table lay a clean Marseilles quilt, which had been left there by a servant, and in the absence of anything better, I unfolded it and threw it over my shoulders. It completely enveloped my body, and I felt quite comfortable again.

"Destroy the new will," said Dr. Rowne.

I dropped my book, for this looked like foul play. It occurred to me that Mr. Colebrook's poor relations would have to suffer for this midnight conference. I knew that he had an only sister, an invalid, who depended upon his bounty for subsistence, and my blood boiled with indignation as I thought of what might be the result from this midnight interview.

I arose from my chair and went to the door. That the end will justify the means I do not think is sound logic, but where a poor, suffering dependent woman was in danger of being cast upon the tender mercies of a cold world I was content to be blamed for the meanness of eavesdropping, if thereby I could prevent so foul a wrong.

Before I did it, I could not but recall the reputed character of Mrs. Colebrook. Without believing much of the gossip that had been circulated concerning her, I could easily arrive at the conclusion that she had been the bane of her husband's happiness.

I had been personally acquainted with him who now lay cold in death before me, so that I was not obliged to guess at the facts in the case. My own observation, though I moved in an humbler sphere than her's, was sufficient to assure me that all was not right. I placed my ear at the key-hole.

"When we are married—"

"Hush," said Mrs. Colebrook.

They spoke in whispers then, and I could distinguish nothing more. Need I have heard more?

Woman—angel or devil.

Was it she who had wept great tears in my presence, who had trembled in agony of grief before me, now calmly plotting with her paramour, bargaining away the sanctio[n] which should have lingered like a weeping angel over the couch of him who was not yet but out of sight? Was it she who had groaned in bitterness at her bereavement now scheming to rob her sister and orphan of her bounty?

"O, woman, false as fair!" Yet she was not a woman; she was a demon!"

The clock struck twelve, and I turned from my reflections to attend to the corpse. The alcohol which had been provided to wet the face was all used, and I needed a further supply. Taking the dish in my hand, I went to the door with the intention of calling upon Mrs. Colebrook for it.

First rapping on the door, so as not to surprise them, I opened it and stepped into the room.

"I need a little more alcohol, Mrs. Colebrook," I began.

She rose from her chair, and with one long and most unearthly shriek, she fell upon the floor.

Dr. Rowne's knees smote each other, and he shrank back to the farthest corner of the room.

"Who are you?" he gasped.

Of course, I was very much surprised at this singular reception. Long familiarity with the dead had made me so indifferent to those dreads and fears, which disturb many persons, that I had little consideration for nervousness on this subject.

"Who are you?" groaned the doctor, his teeth cattering with terror.

Then it flashed upon my mind that the quilt which enveloped my body was the cause of the mischief. I was involuntarily personating the ghost of the deceased Mr. Colebrook, and I do not wonder that the guilty wife, and the more wretched accomplice was terrified, when at midnight I stalked into the room.

I had pinned the counterpane around my neck, so that nothing could be seen of me but my face.

I was a ghostly specter, coming—

"How awful in that hour when conscience stings—" to cure her for the base treachery she was concocting. No wonder she fainted; no wonder even the doctor trembled.

I threw off the quilt and told the doctor who I was.

"See what you have done!" said he pointing to the prostrate lady.

"I heard some voices here, and I came for some alcohol."

"Need you have come in that garb?"

"I had quite forgotten that I had the quilt on."

"You have killed her, I believe," he continued, bending over the prostrate form of Mrs. Colebrook.

We raised her up, and placed her upon the lounge. She was not dead, and presently her eyes opened.

"Where is he?" gasped she, shaking convulsively.

"Be calm!"

"He will haunt me all my days."

"It was only Mr. Mortal."

Her eyes glared upon me, and then rolled up in her head. Heaven grant that I may never see such a hideous expression again. She was in a fit.

The house was alarmed, and Dr. Rowne used every exertion to restore her, but all in vain.

"She will die," he said savagely; "you have killed her!"

"Which will did you destroy, doctor?" I asked.

He staggered into the corner of the room, unable to reply. He would never accuse me again, and yet I promised not to expose him, but it was in deference to the invalid sister of the deceased, that I allowed myself to be silent in the presence of infamy.

Before daylight there was another corpse in the house, and it was told for two months after that Mrs. Colebrook had been killed by the shock of her husband's death.

I buried them both two days after, and I had the pleasure of seeing the Colebrook fortune pass into the hands of the poor and deserving sister.

I have never seen nor heard from Dr. Rowne from that day to this. It is said he went to the East Indies. If he did, the devil is with him there, and always will be.

THE OIL INTEREST OF THE PACIFIC COAST.

Our correspondence on this subject continues. Letters from almost every county in the State, for "indications," or what are considered indications of oil, are reported in nearly every county.

The development of this great interest, being altogether independent of the stock brokers who mine so extensively on Montgomery street, is slow. The public eye does not meet in the columns of the daily press those puffs and exaggerated statements about oil the stock shavers manage to publish when they want to "bull" or "bear" the market for gold or silver mines.

The question whether California can produce coal oil has been definitely and satisfactorily settled by the large quantities and superior quality of that selling in the market. During the past month at least 60,000 gallons of California made oil has been sold at prices ranging from 60 to 75 cents per gallon. The very low imported ruling at 75 to 80 cents per gallon. This, considering the season of the year and the unsettled state of the market, is a very satisfactory showing. We are informed that a number of new distilleries are being erected in various portions of the State, so that the quantity will certainly be much increased, and experience in preparation will improve its quality. It is reasonable to calculate that the present is the last year that California will find it necessary to import coal oil.

The following account of the operations of boring a California oil well, we select from a number of others because it is brief and explicit.

The San Fernando Petroleum Company have been engaged for a considerable time boring for oil in the San Fernando District, near Angeles. Their operations are being conducted under the superintendence of Mr. —— Hughes. One well has been bored to a depth of about 100 feet, on nearly the summit of a mountain, which by the use of a common sand pump, produces four barrels of excellent oil every twenty-four hours. Another well, 160 feet deep, at the base of this mountain, only produces a small quantity of oil, but a large quantity of water. In boring these wells, Mr. Hughes kept a record of the materials the drill passed through, from which we copy the following:

The first twenty-four feet was a solid grey sandstone, not very hard, and fine in grain; for 74 feet below this the drill passed through alternate layers of sand and shale, of light colors, from an inch to several feet in thickness, without oil. Below these was a thin stratum of limestone, about two feet thick. Below this was a stratum of fine-grained grey sandstone, about nine feet thick, which was as sticky and as tough as putty, and impeded the work by sticking to the drill. Beneath this were another series of shales and sands to the depth of fifty-five feet. All these were much impregnated with oil. Passing through these, another stratum of sandstone, similar to that above them, about three feet thick, was met with, under which was found a layer of dark brown shale, which contains a large quantity of oil and gas. It is from this layer that the oil they obtain exudes. They sell this oil from $7 to $10 per barrel on the spot, to a local refinery. This more than pays the expenses, as but three men are employed on the claim, who do all the boring by the aid of a spring-pole, which lifts the drill after they have forced it down.

The Buena Vista Company, whose wells, or rather natural springs, are located in Tulare county, about fifteen miles northwest from Buena Vista Lake, are obtaining a quantity of excellent crude oil by running tunnels in the hills and collecting the oil which seeps through the soil. It is found cheaper and better to obtain the oil in this manner than by boring deep beneath the surface. Many parties who have been residing in the vicinity for years attribute the formation of the oil in so large a portion of the soil thereabouts to the condensation of the gases which are generated in the bowels of the earth; that therefore it is safer and more profitable to obtain these condensed gases by allowing them to fall by their own gravity, than it is to bore deep holes for them to force their way up through. The Buena Vista Company, in their explorations, find a great difference in the specific gravity of the crude oil at various depths, which in a remarkable manner corroborates the theories of the parties mentioned above. At the depth of 21 feet from the surface, the specific gravity of the oil was 20° B., at 40 feet, it is from 35° to 37°, nearly pure enough to be used for illuminating purposes without danger. The company are putting up machinery for refining 200 gallons per day. The machinery was made in this city, at Colley & Riordon's, and will cost about $6,700, all complete.

JOHN RANDOLPH HEADED.—Randolph was traveling through a part of Virginia in which he was unacquainted, meantime he stopped during the night at an inn near the forks of the road. The inn-keeper was a fine specimen, and no doubt of one of the first families in the Old Dominion. Knowing who his distinguished guest was, he endeavored to draw him into conversation but failed in all his efforts. Next in the morning, when Mr. Randolph was ready to start, he called for his bill, which, on being presented, was paid. The landlord still anxious to have some conversation with him, began as follows:

"Which way are you traveling, Mr. Randolph?"

"Sir," said Mr. Randolph, with a look of displeasure, "have'nt I paid my bill?"

"Yes."

"Do I owe you anything more?"

"No."

"Well, I'm going just where I please—do you understand?"

"Yes."

The landlord by this time got somewhat excited, and Mr. Randolph drove off. But to the landlord's surprise, in a few minutes, the servant came to inquire for his master which of the road to take. Mr. Randolph not being out of hearing distance, he spoke out at the top of his voice:

"Mr. Randolph you don't owe me a cent, just take which road you d—n please."

A STRONG, hearty, lazy fellow, who preferred begging for a precarious living to working for a sure one, called at the house of a Massachusetts farmer, and, in the usual language of his race, asked for "cold victuals and old clothes."

"You appear to be a stout, hearty looking man," said the farmer; "what do you do for a living?"

"Why, not much," replied the fellow, "except traveling about from one place to the other."

"Traveling about, eh?" rejoined the farmer, "can you travel well?"

"O, yes," returned the sturdy beggar, "I'm pretty good at that."

"Well, then," said the farmer, coolly opening the door, "let's see you travel."

"I SAY Patrick, what do you think of President Johnson?"

"Faith and he is a good merchant."

"How so?"

"Faith, didn't he sell arms and ammunition to the Fenians, and then sell the Fenians?"

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

SATURDAY MORNING, AUG. 11, 1866.

Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on!
The Stars and Stripes are up for all the world,
Flag of the Nation--Talisman of the Free,
Curst be the hand that dares to pull thee down.

RELIGIOUS.—The Rev. Mr. Blakeslee will preach at the Union Church to-morrow (Sunday) morning and evening.

LYCEUM.—By some strange oversight or misconception of language and "the eternal fitness of things," the busy, thriving, growing new town at the present terminus of the Pacific Railroad was called Alta. The course of events since it was built has forced the conviction upon us, that the main object of locating and which induces the maintenance of that place, with and by, to secure an elevated source from which streams of litigation might flow. Charges of assault and battery, carrying concealed weapons, obtaining money under false pretences, larceny, obstructing highways, &c., &c., pile on ad infinitum, day by day, and many times a day, and even guileless maidens engaged in an indecent and laudable effort to induce the substitution of malt for distilled liquors, and other like precarious pursuits, are made the subjects of malicious charges of frauds which are well calculated to bring the blush to their virgin cheeks. Whether this flood of local business, as designed mainly to fatten our already rubicund, if not obese Justice and Constable, or to excite to greater activity the inordinate appetite for business of our ardent young Deputy District Attorney, or whether some occult cause moves the dissensious Altaians, we are not advised, but in view of existing facts, we would humbly suggest the propriety of substituting the name which forms our caption for the present designation, which it must be conceded, is unmeaning and inapropos.

PET LAMBS.—Those who have entertained unreasonable doubts of the entire fitness of the ex-heroes of the Confederate States Army, for immediate participation in the duties and responsibilities of controlling the Government which they so lately essayed to destroy, have but to read of a few of the doings of the Presidential cossets at Gallatin, Tennessee, on the evening of the 4th of July ult., to be convinced by their patriotic friskings, of their entire fitness to be the bell-wethers of the Philadelphia fold. The ardent young loyalists of Gallatin, in whose behalf and that of their kind, Johnson, Seward & Co., would chock the wheels of Government much their loyalty is represented in controlling the destines of the Republic, celebrated the glories of '76, by pulling down the American flag, tieing one end of it to the tail of a cow, the other end to the tail of a dog and driving these through their town pell-mell, eliciting the huzzas of the multitude as the sacred symbol was draggled through the mire. Bitter, humiliating experience assures us that the august commander-in-chief of the armies of the United States, whose flag was thus insulted, would have severely reprimanded any of his subordinates who had dared to interfere with this brute like exercise of personal privilege and States rights.

ENDS "YOU BET."—A correspondent informs us that Mr. Pritchard, the teacher of the Public School at You Bet, gave a highly interesting exhibition of the proficiency of the scholars under his charge, on Friday evening last. The exercises by the scholars were interspersed by singing and instrumental music by the ladies of the town—the performances of Miss Dunstery, Miss Hobbs, the Misses Fuller, Misses Price and Mrs. Darling, were considered worthy of special note. A negro performance by Messrs. Dunton and Dunster served for interlude. The entire performance gave general satisfaction, though our correspondent cavils considerably at a poetical dialogue on "silting hoops," by Messrs. Holmes and Dow, as in rather bad taste. As, according to his own account the delivery of the objectionable matter was permitted by the teacher and encored by the audience, we are compelled to conclude that our friend is, perhaps, too fastidious.

A DUEL PREVENTED.—Few of our citizens have any idea how near we were to having a duel in town within the last few days. One gent, having understood that another had pronounced something which he had said "a barefaced lie," took offense and demanded explaination or satisfaction. Things looked decidedly squally for a while. The reply of the clear-headed and gallant challengee, however, set everything right. He admitted that he had used the objectionable language, but said that he would have plucked his tongue out by the roots rather than have done so, if he had even for a moment supposed that it could have been distorted into a reflection on his friend's veracity.

INSTALLATION.—On Tuesday evening last the following officers elect for the ensuing quarter, of Hawkins Lodge No. 216, I. O. G. T., were duly installed by D. D. G. M., Ed. Towle: Joseph Edwards, W. C. T.; Mrs. J. M. Garretts, W. V. T.; F. A. Pedler, W. S.; Andrew Bailie, W. F. S.; Miss Sarah Cooke, W. T.; I. T. Coffin, W. M.; Mrs. C. Molter, W. I. G.; Mr. Gloeckler, W. O. G.; Miss Ella M. Chamberlain, W. R. H. S.; Miss Mary E. Pedler, W. L. H. S.; W. G. Thompson, W. A. S.; James Tait, W. D. M.; Benj. Woods, W. C.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Wm. Roberts, aged about sixty years, while working in his garden, opposite the Catholic Church, had the pick which he was using caught in a clothes line overhead, which caused it to glance from its course, giving him a blow in the right temple, making a frightful hole and knocking out his right eye-tooth. His injuries, though painful, are not considered dangerous, though his age and the hot weather operate against speedy recuperation and have caused serious fears for the result.

THE FESTIVAL AT ALTA.—The Musical, Ice-cream and Blackberry Festival, given by the Members of Rev. Mr. Peck's Church, at Alta, on Thursday evening, was, we are informed, quite largely attended and resulted in a decided success, if we confine our view solely to pecuniary considerations. But, if our information is reliable, some of the incidental, outside accompaniments and the Terpsichorean wind-up left the glory of God and salvation of souls away out in the cold.

PONS ASINORUM.

Not long since, within a few weeks, we observed an extract from one of the ablest, if not the leading Democratic paper of the nation, the New York World, which expressed the opinion that "so far as the Philadelphia Convention is to serve as a bridge across which the President might retreat from affiliation with the party with which he had of late identified himself, all Conservatives must per force yield it their approval." We take this to be a terse exposition of the general Democratic acceptation of the true objects of the Philadelphia gathering, as well as the controlling motive of the professed Union pullers of the Philadelphia wires.

The recreant policy of the renegade Tennessean having opened a yawning and impassable gulf between loyalty and rejuvenated treason, he stands shivering and comparatively friendless on the brink of a precipice which his own treachery has reared. And now, in the acme of forlornness, with an audacity which puts that of Lucifer to shame, he implores a nation of thirty million people to send their best mechanics from the remotest distances—to build a bridge across which he may flee from the consequences of his treachery!

We fancy we see the magnificiant structure spaning the sheer abyss, and across its shaky floor of rotten conservative planks a characteristic procession moving. Andrew Johnson, holding in his right hand a shattered toy-bureau while on his left arm rests the true right hand of the temporarily deposed President of the Confederate States, whose left contains a scroll on which is inscribed Andy's free and unconditional pardon of Jeffy's slight and venial sins—fitly mated—Jeff. and Andy lead the van. Next Seward and Aleck Stephens, with stately tread, fraternally advance, and philosophically compare their "black corner stone" and "irrepressible conflict" theories. After these come Robert Toombs, with the long slave-roll which he is to call in Independence Hall and at the foot of Bunker Hill, locked lovingly with Beecher, who bears a Sharp's rifle rusty with border-ruffian blood and a bible blurred with the tears of some poor childless "freedom shrieking" Northern mother. Forrest and Frank Blair—Moseby and Steadman—Semmes and old Gideon Welles and others of the non-descript, motley crew, follow in quick succession, each with familiar relics of the war, while last and diminutively least are espied Phil. Lynch, of the Gold Hill News, and Rockwell, of the little Call, each staggering from the combined effects of an overload of Presidential "bread and butter," and Presidential "crapulousness."

Across the Philadelphia bridge this mixed procession of rebels and renegades winds its way to participate in a grand reconstruction barbecue within the consecrated stockade of Andersonville. There the fatted calf will be killed and distributed among the prodigals in full view of the spirit-concourse of the poor starved victims of their inhumanity. The plea of the pallid lips of 12,000 Union martyrs for the fruits of victory, will there be drowned by the howl of renegade and rebel fraternization. Mayhap, by a wondrous stretch of condecension, the meek victims of an unholy war will permit the pampered menials of the "bread and butter brigade" to fire a formal salute above the graves of their gangrened victims. Be sure that if such poor honor was repugnant to the refined sensibilities of our gallant Southern brethren, its omission would be another offering on the altar of "conciliation."

Good people, for these or like purposes is the great Philadelphia bridge to be builded—for these and like ends is the great Presidential army about to be marshalled. If you have read carefully the spirit of the times, you know it to be so, and you know that our picture is not over-drawn.

The question is, will you join this false and mercenary army, or will you buckle on your armor and make common cause with the great loyal host whose firm purpose it is to scatter and overwhelm it, in the name of God, Country, Justice and the memory of our Union dead?

CRAWFISHED.—The Convention which lately held its deliberations at San Francisco under the name and banner of the Union party, and nominated a ticket for the support of the Union voters of that city at the ensuing municipal election, closed a creditable record with a contemptible piece of crawfishing. The Convention had applied tests and required answers from applicants for nomination which could leave no reasonable doubt of their radical Union antecedents and record. Their nominess were well understood to be in full sympathy with the Union masses, and were generally admitted to be "the right men in the right place." The common enemy was disorganized and disrupted, while old feuds and dissension between members of our fold had been happily healed, and it only remained for the Convention to unfurl a true-blue banner with every principle of sound loyalty blazing in letters of shining gold upon its waving folds, to have insured the heart-felt acclamations and active sympathy of all true men throughout the State and nation. The members of that Convention may live to the age of Methusaleh and never have another opportunity of obtaining enduring fame so cheaply. The State Committee had met while the Convention was still in session, and had adopted a series of resolutions which well expressed and were fully en rapport with the Union sentiment of the State. For a year to come these resolutions will form the Union platform of the State—by it all true men will stand or fall—for it they will fight, through victory or defeat. About Patrick Crowley, Henry M. Hale or Horace M. Hastings as individuals or office-seekers, Union men outside of San Francisco, and many even in that city, know and care but little. As men who entertain and are willing to abide by revered principles, they might arouse a hearty and active enthusiasm. As it is, by their cowardice in dodging an issue which would have made their assured success a State triumph, our only feeling is one of indifference, with which no trifle of contempt is mingled. We agree with our neighbor of the Stars and Stripes, however, and must admit that, in a city where loyal blacks were prohibited from laying their love-offerings on the altar of their country on that Country's natal day, in deference to the dirty prejudices of white traitors, little, if any better was to have been expected. Defeat, in the company of a band of brothers of the metal of Placer county Unionists, with every syllable of their creed boldly blazoned on every fold of a defiant flag, would be far more grateful than victory with a truckling, time-serving, issue-dodging set of hungry, office-seeking chicken-hearts.

GROSS PERSONAL OUTRAGE AND PERVERSION OF LAW.

Mr. J. W. Biderman, formerly and for many years a respected citizen of Sacramento, afterwards State Gauger, later a trusted foreman on the Pacific Railroad and at present the superintendent of a valuable mine in the lower end of our county, was made the subject of a prosecution before Justice Asbury, of this place, on Monday last, which, if the proceedings were sustained by the spirit or letter of our laws, puts to utter shame the jurisprudence of our State. This gentleman was dragged away from his business and forced to come a distance of about forty miles to stand arraigned for the larceny of a few pounds of tobacco, three boxes of sardines! and a few bottles of whisky of the quality to be expected in a one-horse railroad chebang.

Although the prosecution marshalled a formidable array of witnesses, not one, from the prosecuting witness down, uttered one syllable of evidence which would even have justified a suspicion that the accusation was true. As the rendition of the testimony of these witnesses developed, step by step, the flimsy basis on which a charge so serious and so humiliating had been preferred against a respectable and prominent citizen, there was not a manly breast in that whole court-room but heaved with indignation, nor a man of even ordinary sense of right and justice, whose brow did not burn with shame at being one of "The People of the State of California" in whose name a charge so destitute of foundation had been preferred.

Of course Justice Asbury, without the slightest hesitation, ordered the discharge of the prisoner.

"Well," perhaps some may say, "if he was discharged and allowed to go scot free, he ought to be satisfied." But is it so? Look at it!—Here is a man whose present and past standing should have been some guarrantee of the falsity of such a charge, forced to leave his business, jeopardizing valuable interests; to travel forty miles, be restrained of his liberty for several days; procure able counsel from Auburn, and above all these, yes, infinitely above every other consideration, to suffer for days the damning disgrace of standing before his fellow-men branded as the robber of a fifth-rate doggery-keeper! All this upon an utterly, foolishly, maliciously baseless charge. How would you like it, reader? Well, nominally, before the world, in the eyes of the law, you are not free from responsibility in the transaction. This was all done in your name—our name—the name of the People. Do you feel disposed to shoulder the responsibility and endorse these acts, or do you feel like enquiring whether somebody has not perverted the law and prostituted the name of the people? We will not intimate a doubt but that the latter is your choice. It is and has been ours, and in the interest of justice and the people we have investigated the matter.

A complaint, in due form of law, was drawn by Deputy District Attorney, Jacob Lindsay, Esq., in which the crime of larceny was clearly set forth, and Mr. Biderman was pointedly charged with its commission. To the truth of this complaint Mr. Davis, the owner of the alledged stolen property, made his affidavit. As a matter of course these facts exculpate the Justice who ordered, and the officer who made, the arrest. As before remarked, Mr. Davis, the prosecuting witness, swore to no single fact, when on the stand, which remotely sustained the allegation of the complaint—in other words, the Mr. Davis on the stand was not the Mr. Davis of the complaint. The inference, though perhaps unjust, was general that Mr. Davis had deferred to his able attorney, as to the form and substance of the paper, signed as many sureties on bail and official bonds do, considering it "a mere matter of legal formula." The corrollary of this inference is, that Mr. Davis was ignorantly innocent.

Our past and present friendly feeling for Mr. Lindsay would incline us to gladly accept the same theory in regard to his connection with this affair, but we know Jacob too well—ignorance is not one of his attributes—on the contrary, quite otherwise. The thoroughness as a lawyer, on which Mr. Lindsay, no doubt, justly prides himself, compels the conclusion that he well knew that the spirit of the law by no means contemplates the arrest of a citizen without some strong, justifying evidence of his guiltness of the crime charged. We will not question but this same thoroughness induced him to sift the mass of obtainable evidence. If it is conceded that he was possessed of a wise conception of the law, and of all the evidence on which the charge was founded, painful as the conclusion is to us, we are forced to cast upon his shoulders the responsibility of a transaction than which we have never known one more outrageous in our county. We say this entirely in sorrow and not at all in anger, and only that we love Rome, more than Cæsar. Had we remained silent concerning this affair, our assent to its repetition might have been inferred. Even the warm and hearty interest we feel and have ever felt in our aspiring and eager young friend will not permit us to leave room for such an inference.

However, as we knew Mr. Lindsay when, as a lawyer, he was yet but in embryo, and whereas, even then, our interest in his future was so deep and earnest that we would willingly, if necessary, and we had been competent, have personally assumed his fecundation, that early interest prompts and compels us to seek for something in extenuation of his offence. It may be that, having but recently burst forth from the darkness of his clry salis student state, into the full blaze of official practitionership, he has been temporarily dazed, or that this sedentary habits of student life have diseased his legal digestive organs and created a morbid appetite for "cases."

A close observation of animated nature will furnish many analogous instances of uncontrollable youthful ardor, which go far toward justifying the opinion that Mr. Lindsay's case conforms to natural laws. The youthful chanticleer, entranced with his first shrill notes of cockliness, crows at all unseasonable hours—why should not this young cock of the Dutch Flat walk, be accorded the same poor privilege? Each tiny, bursting bud throughout the floral world hath an instinct implanted in its breast, a fiat of Nature commanding it to "blow." Our budding Blackstonian blossom doubtless hath the same, and, our Jacob, unlike his ancient Hebrew namesake, exhibits no disposition to "wrestle with the Lord," but with true Christian spirit accepts the divine decree, and, in season or out of season, Jacob obeys the mandate and incontinently "bloweth." We might draw many other similes in our friend's extenuation, but these may suffice, and we will rest, in the hope that the young stallion will soon take into his mouth a light trotting bit of discretion, curb his fiery pace, and for the people's sake "go slow."

THE Nashville Dispatch says: Gradually, one by one, the military appurtenances to our city are disappearing. We no longer have fortifications with mounted guns, military parades, provost guards and street sentinels, and hospitals and quartermasters' depots, barracks, recruiting offices, and all the military adjuncts of the late war. They no longer create interest in our midst, and we are as quiet now as though we had not just been convulsed with revolution and the clash of arms.

ALL HAIL!—The Bulletin puts the Union ticket at the head of its columns, says the Sacramento Bee, and indorses it with a fine, strong and hearty editorial. The world moves. It says it is better than the other ticket. It is as good as any party could make. It should be supported for economical and patriotic reasons. Democrats must have no chance to claim even a partial victory in San Francisco, for national reasons. Roll up an overwhelming majority.

B. H. HILL, one of the delegates to the Philadelphia Rebel Convention from Georgia, is an outspoken and implacable traitor. In 1864 he drew up in the Rebel Congress, a defiant manifesto against the United States. He now acts as if he thought none but traitors have a right in the country.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

As our circulation in the family circle is considerable, and as we frequently observe the young folks poring over our columns, we have concluded to appropriate, weekly, a small space for their exclusive benefit. Our riddles, charades &c, will be numbered, and we invite the young folks who solve them to send in their answers. We cannot afford costly premiums therefor, but will publish the names of those giving correct solutions. The answers should state the number of the riddle or puzzle to which it refers.

LETTER FROM WISCONSIN HILL.

WISCONSIN HILL, Aug. 8, 1866.

ED. ENQUIRER:—As this place promises to become of considerable importance in the way of cement mining, and as you have so kindly solicited the miners of our county to contribute any reliable items in regard to mining for publication in your widely circulating journal, I have concluded to chronicle a few "bare facts." That a deep and extensive channel of auriferous and cemented gravel exists in this locality has long been known, whether sufficient precious metal is contained therein to remunerate parties in resorting to expensive machinery and labor, is a question about to be solved. Your correspondent "Ike," has already stated that a first-class mill with twenty stamps was being erected at this place, and I may add that before the issue of this little epistle, the shrill whistle will have been heard for miles around here. The contractor, Capt. J. D. Woodworth, has kindly informed me that the cost of the mill is $17,000, and the present appearence thereof indicates that it will be one of the finest, if not the best mill, in Placer county. It is the calculation of the proprietors to crush eighty-five tons of cement in twenty-four hours. Mr. Hansen, the superintendent, will give me a more definite description of the mill which I will transmit to you in due time.

There are a number of claims located on this same bed of cement or "blue lead," of which I will mention—Geo. Tengyke & Co., Horman & Co., Geo. Doat & Co., and the celebrated Coloma Co., all of which have tunnels and shafts penetrated in their claims, with equal good prospects. You will observe that I am not able to give you any results of the operations on the above claims. It is evident that the ground is yet but imperfectly tested, although a vast amount of work has been done, it will yet require the energetic expenditure of money to fully develope this as one of the most important mining districts in the county. The next claim of importance in this neighborhood is the Lebanan Mining Company. This company after an expenditure of thousands of dollars, and many years hard blasting in "bed rock," has at last succeeded in "tapping the hill" at a distance of over two thousand feet of tunnel with fair prospects. They intend to put up a mill immediately.

The Morning Star Company is doing well, but are working their mill only one shift for want of water sufficient to supply the boiler. Capt. Thomas, the foreman, informed me that their main tunnel is on the lead near two thousand feet in the hill.

With your kind permission I propose to address you more frequently in future, and shall make it my particular point to notice nothing but reliable facts, in the meantime I expect the miners of the adjoining camps of this divide to "follow suit." SUBSCRIBER.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS!

A PURE AND POWERFUL TONIC,

CORRECTIVE AND ALTERATIVE,

— of —

Wonderful Efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fever, Cramps, Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, whether arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system, or produced by special causes.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME. genial and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fierce excitant; but it is a combination of the extracts of balsamic herbs and plants, with the mildest and purest of all diffusive stimulants.

As a General Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be appreciated. In case of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises an electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed it operates to reinforce and re-establish them.

The weak Stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of DYSPEPSIA, and in less confirmed forms of INDIGESTION. Acting as a gentle and painless apparient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habits, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive and from both sexes.

The agony of BILIOUS COLIC is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stimulant, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

Last, though not least, it is the ONLY SAFE STIMULANT, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and somachics of the day.

No family medicine has been so universally, and, it may be truly added, deservedly popular with the intelligent portion of the community, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Storekeepers every where, and by

CALIFORNIANS should test the merits of DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs, and various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand in the mines. Its daily use will the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitter, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health. Dec9-3m

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE.—Dr. Maggiel is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all-healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disenfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that MAGGIEL'S BILIOUS, DYSPEPTIC AND DIARRHEA PILLS cure where all others fail. Which for Burns, Scalds, Childblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin MAGGILL'S SALVE is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 11 Pine street, New York. R. H. HOPE FOR THE AFFLICTED.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. Young, in 1850. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pain; lay aside their cross, and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble, do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number or the manner of directing your letters. Consultation Office, 540, Washington street, San Francisco. Dec-3m

MEDICAL ADVICE.—DR. WM. K. DOHERTY'S Medical and Surgical Institute is becoming a sine qua non to the welfare of our State and health of our citizens; and his rapidly spreading reputation, although it may excite surprise, is but the signal of skill, and follows as the natural result of such a cause. We are personally acquainted with gentlemen who had suffered for years under chronic disease, and who had taken advantage of every available means that promised relief, but without success, until they called upon Dr. Doherty, who, in an incredibly short space of time, has given them entire relief. It is gratifying to announce this fact, because the Dr. is a gentleman who seeks, not by defamation of others, to establish his reputation or ruin of another's fame. The Doctor conducts his own Institute in such a manner must be gratifying to all his patients. He examines, advises, and recommends without charge, and the patient, after hearing his terms for treatment, can accept or reject at pleasure. In no case does the Doctor make a charge unless he effects a cure. This he is able to do, because he feels the confidence which long experience has given, and no doubt the consolation which appertain to that confidence. Persons afflicted with either acute or chronic disease, would do well to consult the Doctor; at all events, it can do no harm, as for consultation he asks no fee; nor does he insist on obedience to his advice unless the patient places himself under his care. His offices are on Sacramento street, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship office.—News

AT LEAST two-thirds of the Diseases with which the human family are afflicted, are brought on by the want of attention to the condition of the Blood. Whenever the blood becomes impure, no matter from what cause, the effects of such impurity are immediately felt, either in one way or another; and unless measures are at once taken to remove such impurities, the whole system becomes affected, and a long fit of sickness and sometimes death is the result. Dr. Samuel Adams, a well-known Chemist of San Francisco, has discovered certain herbs and roots, mostly of California growth, which he has combined with Sarsaparilla and Iodide of Potas, and succeeded in producing a Medicine that, while it is entirely harmless in every particular, will in short time completely eradicate from the Blood all impurities of whatever nature, and will restore the patient to perfect ROBUST HEALTH. The preparation is called "ADAMS' BLOOD PURIFIER," and is for sale at wholesale at the United States Drug Store, corner of Bush and Powell streets, San Francisco, and by Dr. D. W. Strong, Dutch Flat. 40

FRENCH MEDICAL OFFICE.

DR. JULES PERRAULT, Doctor of Medicine of the Faculty of Paris, Graduate of the University Queen's College, and Physician of the St. John Baptiste Society of San Francisco.

DR. PERRAULT has the pleasure to inform patients, and others seeking confidential medical advice, that he can be consulted daily at his office, Armory Hall Building, North-East corner Montgomery and Sacramento streets, San Francisco. Rooms No. 9, 10, 11, first floor, opposite entrance either Montgomery or Sacramento streets.

DR. PERRAULT'S studies have been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of the various forms of Nervous and Physical Debility, the results of injurious habits acquired in youth which usually terminate in impotence and sterility, and permanently induce all the concomitants of old age. There a secret infirmity exists involving the happiness of a life and that of others, reason and morality dictate the necessity of its removal, for it is a fact that premature decline of the vigor of manhood, matrimonial unhappiness, compulsory single life, etc., have their sources in causes, the germ of which is planted in early life, and the bitter fruit tasted long afterward. Patients, laboring under this complaint, will complain of one or more of the following symptoms: Nocturnal Emissions, Pains in the Back and Head, Weakness of Memory and Sight, Discharge from the Urethra on going to stool or making water, the Intellectual Faculties are Weakened, Loss of Memory ensues, Ideas are clouded, and there is a disinclination to attend to business, or even to read, writing or the society of friends, etc. The patient will probably complain of Dizziness, Vertigo, and that Sight and Hearing are Weakened and sleep disturbed by dreams, melancholy, sighing, palpitations, faintings, coughs and slow fever; while some have external rheumatic pain, and numbness of the body. Some of the most common symptoms are pimples in the face and aching in different parts of the body. Patients suffering from this disease, should apply immediately to DR. PERRAULT, either in person or by letter, as he will guarantee a cure of Seminal Emissions and Impotence in six to eight weeks.

Patients suffering from venereal diseases in any stage Gonorrhea, Gleet, Strictures, Bubo Ulcers, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc., will be treated successfully. All Syphilitic and Mercurial Taints entirely removed from the system.

DR. PERRAULT'S diplomas are in his office, where patients can see, for themselves that they are under the care of a regular educated practitioner. The best references given if required.

Patients suffering under chronic diseases, can call and examine for themselves. We invite investigation; claim not to know everything, nor to cure everybody, but we do claim that in all cases taken under treatment we fulfil our promises. We particularly request those who have tried this boasted doctor, and that advertised physician, till worn out and discouraged, to call upon us. Low charges and quick cures.

Ladies suffering from any complaint incidental to their sex, can consult the doctor, with the assurance of relief

Female Monthly Pills.

DR. PERRAULT is the only agent in California for Dr. Bird's Female Monthly Pills. Their immense sale has established their reputation as a female remedy, unapproached, and far in advance of every other remedy for suppressions and irregularities, and other obstructions in females. On the receipt of five dollars, these Pills will be sent by mail or express to any part of the world, secure from curiosity or damage.

Persons at a distance can be cured at home, by addressing a letter to DR. PERRAULT, corner of Sacramento and Montgomery streets, Rooms, 10 and 11, or Box 978, P. O., San Francisco, stating the case as minutely as possible, general habits of living, occupation, etc., etc.

FACTS VS. THEORIS.—"Give me a place to rest my lever on," says Archimedes, "and I will move the world." "Give me pure and unadulterated drugs," says Medicus, of the olden time, "and I will cure disease."

In one sense, both of these learned pundits were the veriest charlatans. They knew there was no place to rest their lever on, either to move the world or cure disease. Mechanism was in a backward state, and the medical profession was but another name for sorcery, and all the adjuncts of magic filters and charms of the "evil eye," &c.

But these latter days have borne unto us something more than even superstition and its crew ever dreamt of in their maddest philosophy. In these days of practical science, what was theory of yesterday is fact to-day, and all the old time notions become as bubbles in the sun, and burst and break with every breath we draw.

Let Archimedes shoulder his lever and we will find a resting place for it to move the world. Let mine ancient Medicus pant and toil no more for the drugs he so sorely needs, for we have them at our hand, ever ready to serve them at his beck.

Refined in the laboratory of Mr. Maggiel, the finest materials known in the medical profession are obtainable by any one. His Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills stand unrivalled, and his Salve operates with magical effect upon burns, scalds, and all sores and ulcers of the skin.

In fact, we think Maggiel's Pills and Salve are the wonder of this century, and we are happy in the thought that many others of our brethren of the craft agree with us. We would earnestly counsel that all families provide themselves with Dr. Maggiel's Preparations at once, and keep them ready at hand, so as to use them at the most opportune time and as occasion serves.—Valley Sentinel.

JUDGE H——, of Northwestern Illinois, told the following story of his early practice:

"Soon after I commenced the practice of law I was engaged in trying a small matter of accounts before a justice of the peace, another young lawyer being employed on the other side. There was not much to be said, it is true; and about the time we got through with the testimony, I noticed the justice figuring on a piece of paper and writing in the docket. As soon as the last witness was through I got up to argue my side of the case. The Court, who was of a thrifty temperament, got up, and as he left the bench said, coolly: 'Young men, you can go on with your argument; I will be in pretty soon.' The judgment is fifty dollars!' We did not proceed."

SOME years ago, a gentleman of Norfolk, Va., had a fine negro to whom he gave the privilege of hiring himself out and keeping one-half his wages. One day the negro came to his master to tell him that the man for whom he had been working, wished to buy him.

"Well," replied the master "what of that? I don't want to sell."

"But you see, massa," said Sam "Ise had a bad cough for a time, and spec I'm gwine into the 'sumption. I don't spec I shall last more dan two years, and I'd like to take dat man in."

REDUCTION IN PRICE
OF THE
AMERICAN WATCHES,
Made at Waltham, Mass.

In consequence of the recent great decline in gold and silver and all the materials used in the manufacture of our goods, and in anticipation of a still further decline, we have reduced our prices to as low a point as they can be placed

WITH GOLD AT PAR.

So that no one need hesitate to buy a watch now from the expectation that it will be cheaper at some future time. The test of ten years, and the manufacture and sale of

More than 200,000 Watches,

Have given our productions the very highest rank among time-keepers. Commencing with the determination to make only thoroughly excellent watches, our business has steadily increased as the public became acquainted with their value, until for months together we have been unable to supply the demand. We have repeatedly enlarged our factory buildings until they now cover over three acres of ground, and give accommodation to more than eight hundred workmen.

We are fully justified in stating that we now make MORE THAN ONE-HALF OF ALL THE WATCHES SOLD IN THE UNITED STATES. The different grades are distinguished by the following trade marks engraved on the plate:

1.—"American Watch Co.," Waltham, Mass.
2.—"Appleton, Tracy & Co.," Waltham, Mass.
3.—"P. S. Bartlett," Waltham, Mass.
4.—"Wm. Ellery."
5.—OUR LADIES' WATCH of first quality is named "Appleton, Tracy & Co.," Waltham, Mass.
6.—Our next quality of Ladies' Watch is named "P. S. Bartlett," Waltham, Mass. These watches are furnished in a great variety of sizes and styles of cases.

The American Watch Co., of Waltham, Mass., authorize us to state that without distinction of trade mark or price,

All the Products of their Factory are fully Warranted

To be the best time-keepers of their class ever made in this or any other country. Buyers should remember that, unlike the guarantee of a foreign maker who can never be reached, this warrantee is good at all times against the Company or their Agents, and that if after the most thorough trial, any watch should prove defective in any particular, it may always be exchanged for another. As the American Watches made at Waltham are for sale by dealers generally throughout the country, we do not solicit orders for single watches.

CAUTION.—The public are cautioned to buy only of respectable dealers. All persons selling counterfeits will be prosecuted.

THIS CELEBRATED INSTITUTE

has enjoyed on this coast an uninterrupted success of fourteen years, and has become one of the renowned Hospitals of the age. What the celebrated Lock Hospital is to London, and the no less renowned establishment of Ricord is to Paris, this Institute has become to the Pacific coast. The thousands annually received and cured place it it in point of number of patients among the very first of the world, and the success of its treatment ranks it second to none.

PRIVATE DISEASES IN MALE and IRREGULARITIES IN FEMALES are the great destroyers of health They insidiously attack the system and gradually undermine and destroy it; they drive the bloom from the face; they give to the eye, the strength from the frame; they give to the world puny and diseased offspring, and poison, through successive generations the race of man. The marks can be seen in Scrofula, Consumption, Cripples, the Idiotic, the Paralytic, the Insane, etc.

There is no more terrible scourge to the human race than those diseases arising from the contamination of Venerial Poison. The mildest forms, by retreating to the blood, hold over the afflicted one, the destruction that is liable at any moment to fall and blight—to utterly destroy—all earthly hopes.

MERCURY, recognized as the most fatal medical enemy to man, combining with the Venereal, doubles in dangers. Those who have been treated with that pernicious mineral poison are not cured; the disease has only assumed a new form.

Do not be Satisfied with Partial Cures that leave the poison to crawl through the system, eating its way into the tissues and organs beneath the apparently smooth surface, to burst out in the future with a virulence that will baffle the effects of medicine. WHEN PERFECT CURES can be obtained by consulting a physician whose long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS enables to determine at once the nature of the disease.

In all cases entrusted to the Doctor's care, PERFECT SPEEDY and PERMANENT,

Cures are always Guaranteed.

In syphilis and its adjuncts; Gonnorhœa and its accompanying diseases, and all diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, and prostrate; Seminal Weakness; Diseases of the Heart and Lungs; Dyspepsia; Indigestion, Impotency; Incipient consumption, and all diseases of the urinary organs, in either sex, cure always warranted, NO PAY REQUIRED, at the SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR SPERMATORRHŒA.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises. He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion unaccountable falling of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forebodings of evil, sleeplessness, troubled and lascivious dreams, accompanied by growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptons of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases Seminal Weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken path of his existence towards a premature and loathsome grave. To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharge of the vital principle of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the one who looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim to his evil, and an innocent companion of his punishment He adds to his misery and disorder until hope leaves him. There is no rescue except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult then, at once, a physician whom long practice and careful research, has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease. Those who have become the victims of solitary vices, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fills thousands of sick-rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathize with their sufferings. To such the Doctor would especially address himself, giving to each and all assurance of a PERFECT and PERMANENT CURE, without hindrance to business, change of diet, or fear of exposure.

Do not forget the address. See below.

Important to Females.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease and requires medical or surgical assistance, the enquiry should be, Where is there a physician who is fully competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society recommends him to the confidence of the community? The Doctor understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels called upon to interpose, and by the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. Therefore families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who will feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation by letter or otherwise, FREE. See address below.

THE CELEBRATED FEMALE REMEDIES, compounded from the private prescription of Dr. Young, have now obtained a most extended popularity, and are correctly viewed to be the safest and surest remedies for the complaints for which they are applied. The constantly accruing testimonials of their efficacy declare them to be pre-eminently superior in their action. No lady should be without these Renovating Agents. None genuine unless procured at this office.

RHEUMATISM.

Throughout this Coast a great deal of suffering is experienced from Rheumatism. Weeks and even months of protracted and aggravated misery is endured by the victims of medical insufficiency and ignorance, which could be cured just as speedily as was Mr. SPARROW, whose testimony is given below, and is only the echo of hundreds of other cases. Dr. Bourne cures without medicines, which accounts for his extraordinary success.—No. 10 Masonic Temple, Post street entrance.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 6, 1861.

DR. BOURNE:—Last winter I was nearly dead, by an attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered the most excruciating pains for about five weeks, without any hope of relief, when a friend hearing of my illness, called to see me, and assured me that if I would stop 'drugging and dosing,' and go to you, that you would have me walking about the streets in three days. Sure enough, although I was utterly helpless, and conveyed to your house in a carriage, lifted into the bath, yet, on coming out of it, I largely assisted myself, doing much towards dressing, and, without assistance, walked from the bath to the carriage. On the fourth day, I discharged my carriage and walked, with a friend's aid, the entire distance to your house (nearly a mile) and home again, and so on until cured. I felt myself a well man. And now I am happy to do you this little service of publicly certifying to the simple truth, leaving it to do its work among my friends and acquaintances as may chance to see this.

Your friend,
JOSEPH SPARROW.

CONSUMPTION.

An Interesting Letter.

Very few persons, even among physicians, would have been willing upon any terms to have been in the condition of the writer of the following letter on the 15th of February last. I will anticipate somewhat his report of the facts by saying that on the 15th of August last he made me a visit, "the very picture of health." Time, which tries and proves all things, has sufficiently tested this case, and shown that neither relapse nor collapse have followed; the cure is perfect; and can be cited among the scores of similar cases the result of my improved mode of treating diseases without medicine.

G. M. BOURNE,
Water Cure Physician,
No. 10 Masonic Temple, Post street

SACRAMENTO, April 30, 1865.

DR. G. M. BOURNE—Dear Sir?—It is with pleasure and satisfaction that I now let you know of my good health. Looking back upon what I have passed through, it seems as if I had been lifted from the grave, and I think it my duty to acknowledge to you and the world the benefit I derived from water treatment as administered by you in your celebrated baths. It was in August, 1864, when disease developed itself in my right side and lungs. I took medicines, getting worse with chills, fevere, loss of strength, and was pronounced consumptive. This set me to thinking, and finally I determined to leave my business and go to the Sandwich Islands, having been informed that I could get a passage from San Francisco, and while waiting for a ship called upon Dr. Bourne, who stated that a trip to the Islands would probably result disastrously, was wholly unnecessary, as I could be speedily cured at his establishment. I placed myself under his treatment, and left your office so improved I thought I could risk returning home and do my duty as Engineer on the Central Pacific Railroad. The Doctor objected, but I thought I knew better, and returned to duty. In about two weeks my cough returned, and I kept getting worse, and contrary to Dr. Bourne's injunction never to take medicine again, committed that folly, and soon was so completely run down that I could scarcely walk; so, as a last resort, I concluded once more to try the Water Cure. I went to San Francisco—few of my friends expecting me to return; in fact, I thought my return doubtful, and called on Dr. Bourne's establishment (February 14, 1865.) I was not able to get into the bath without assistance, but in a few days I began to recover myself again. I remained with him only six weeks, when I felt "a wiser and better man," without the aid of medicine. I have now been at work several weeks, and find that I am gaining every day, and at present bid fair to be stouter than ever before. Persons visiting the Doctor's establishment find it just what it should be, both in the Ladies' and Gentlemens' Departments, and I cannot say too much in praise of the Doctor's kind attentions to his patients.

This letter I write for the benefit of all the afflicted, to be used as the Doctor decides, and should it be the means of directing any to his care and treatment who (as they assuredly will) find relief, I will be paid for my trouble. JAMES CAMPBELL,
Engineer Central Pacific Railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 22, 1865.

Advised by the undersigned, Mr. James Campbell, of the Central Pacific Railroad, (who was then in a most deplorable state of ill health,) placed himself under the care of Dr. Bourne, the Water Cure Physician. Some six months afterward he visited the city, when I accidentally met him at Dr. Bourne's establishment, and am happy to say, restored to the enjoyment of good health, and in fine spirits. JOHN SULLIVAN.

☞ Dr. Bourne treats all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs—which includes diptheria, brochitis, incipient consumption, pleurisy, croup, etc.—with greatest success. Great relief is afforded in advanced stages of consumption. Rheumatism, paralysis, neuralgia, fever and ague, dropsy, etc., are also cured quickly, pleasantly and economically. No medicine whatever.

Confirmation Strong of an Interesting Letter.

SACRAMENTO, November 23, 1865.

DEAR DOCTOR:—I received your letter a few days since asking for my photograph, which I will attend to as soon as convenient. At present I am very busy, on account of the stormy weather, being out at all times, both night and day, and am enjoying very good health, appreheading no danger, if properly careful, as every one should be. I have read my letter in the "Call" and other papers, and have been asked several times concerning it, and whether it is correct, and I say I can vouch for its contents, and more if required, and so can a great many others who knew me at the time.

I remain your friend.
JAMES CAMPBELL.

To DR. BOURNE, San Francisco.

Dr. Bourne takes the liberty to publish the above as many persons had prophesied his relapse into his former condition, on returning to his duties, of the writer of "An Interesting Letter," whose statements concerning the cure of a well defined case of consumption have recently attracted so much attention to the Water Cure, as improved upon and practiced by Dr. Bourne. This additional testimony must prove satisfactory to all reasonable minds. It should be remembered that Dr. Bourne uses no medicines whatever, and that his patients almost universally are those who failed to receive relief from the medical practitioners; yet they are cured with great rapidity, and in a pleasant and agreeable manner No. 10, Masonic Temple, Post street entrance. jy14 3m

IMPORTANT
MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

ELECTRICITY AS A CURATIVE AGENT

When it was promulgated by the Directors of the Electropathic Institute that disease could be entirely eradicated from the system without the use of poisonous drugs the thoughtless and those who do not look deeply into cause and effect scouted the assertion as chimerical, and wrote articles replete with sophistry, claiming that only through the digestive system could the blood be purged of the poisons which constitute disease; a great cry arose from those interested in the continued supremacy of the old system of one poison to cure another. All of the empirics joined in the chorus, and in their ignorance laughed at the new system, circulating base stories of its ill success, and quoting imaginary cases as proofs. Time has demonstrated their dishonesty. After five years of uninterrupted success the Electropathetic system is the leading idea in medical jurisprudence. While by the old system, physicians are contented to cure one in every five cases, those were those who were diving deep into the science of the curative art; among these were the Electropathists; finally, it was discovered that the failure in most of the cases of organic diseases, was entirely due to the machine. Taking this view of the case, Dr. J. H. Josselyn, after years of experiment, has perfected an Electropathic Instrument, which will cure any disease which flesh is heir to, always to be understood that the case is not so far advanced as to show a destruction of the vital tissue. From early morn until late at night, this instrument is employed, imparting health and vigor to all who are so fortunate as to obtain its services. We do not claim that the use of medicines may not be more advantageous, in some cases, but, that in connection with machines, it will perform a cure much sooner than without, and also that diseases hitherto deemed incurable, can be cured by this system, but the Directors desire to take this opportunity to inform invalids that the Resident Physician is a regular graduate and has had large experience in the treatment of disease, both with and without the assistance of electricity; he has also discovered several "electric" Vegetable remedies that will cure almost any ramenable disease, which he will send with full instructions for use, to any part of the Pacific coast upon a receipt of a complete description of the disease with which the applicant may be afflicted, and will warrant a complete and perfect cure in all cases where the medicines are used according to directions and more especially in all cases of female troubles, where great care and caution are necessary to a favorable result. Disease (which by the old system) took months, and even years to cure, are now cured in a few days or weeks. The cost, too, is not so great as by the old system, besides the saving of time, is connected with this system are the renowned

Electro-Magnetic Baths,

than which there is no more powerful auxiliary in the world for the radical cure of disease. There is no Institute in the State where the electropathic system is practiced, except at the

Electropathic Institute,

645 Washington street.

This Institute was established to, if possible prevent the unwary from falling into those dens of robbery (yclept) quack doctors traps, and hereafter the scientific opinions of this Institute will not be to blame if the afflicted are robbed of their money, and injured in constitution. There is another view of the affair. The rising generation should be reared with strong constitutions, and the Directors wish to arouse their guardians to a proper sense of their duties in the premises, if possible to prent them from stuffing their young charges with deleterious drugs, with a chance of entailing upon the tender constitution for forming, a complication of evils, a thousand times worse than death.

It would be consuming space, to no purpose, to enumerate the diseases to which this system is applicable, suffice it to say, that there is no disease, within the catalogue of human ills, but what can be cured at the Electropathic Institute. We have instructed the Resident Physician to warrant a perfect and permanent cure, or ask no pay for service, when in his judgement it is within the bounds of c
